Our Logo

Primary Logo

The Primary Logo is the official expression of the FinderrLink identity. It combines the interlocking symbol with the custom wordmark to create a distinctive and recognizable brand.

The interlocking symbol represents the seamless relationship between Freelancers, Enterprises, and Agencies. Its continuous form reflects discovery, connection, and collaboration.

The bold wordmark gives the identity a confident and professional presence, while the rounded symbol adds a modern and approachable character.

Vertical Logo

The Vertical Logo is the stacked counterpart to the horizontal lockup, offering a centered composition for square or narrow applications. It combines the same interlocking symbol and custom wordmark to preserve brand recognition across all formats.

FinderrLink

Wordmark

Vertical Logo

Logo Structure

The FinderrLink mark is constructed on a precise geometric grid of overlapping circles, governed by a 45-degree diagonal axis and corner radius derived directly from the Bento Grid system. Every intersection and curve follows the same mathematical DNA.

This guarantees visual harmony and absolute scalability, from a 16-pixel favicon to large-scale environmental graphics. Never redraw, approximate, or modify the proportions. Always use the supplied master artwork.

This underlying structure is the foundation of brand precision.

Clear Space

Clear space is the protected zone around the logo. It keeps the mark visible and unobstructed across every application, from screens to signage. No text, graphics, or UI elements may enter this area.

All measurements derive from the wordmark cap height (H) using a consistent 1.68 ratio. Icon size, internal gap, and outer safe zone scale mathematically from this single unit, ensuring the logo breathes in perfect proportion at any size.

The vertical lockup is reserved for co-branding contexts where the partner logo is also vertically oriented. In all other applications, use the horizontal lockup.

Never redraw, crop, or compress the logo. Always use the supplied master artwork. Clear space scales automatically with the mark, preserving precision without guesswork.

Scaling Logic:

Icon Size (C) = Wordmark (H) * 1.68

Space Between (X) = Wordmark (H) / 1.68

Clear space = Space Between (X) * 1.68

Logo Scale

The horizontal lockup scales as a single proportional unit. Icon, wordmark, and internal spacing maintain their exact mathematical relationship from large-format displays down to the minimum threshold.

Every measurement derives from the wordmark cap height (H) using the 1.68 ratio system. Icon size, gap, and clear space scale automatically, preserving visual harmony without manual adjustment at any size.

44 pixels / 11 millimeters is the absolute floor. Below this, the wordmark loses legibility and the lockup relationship breaks. Never use the horizontal logo smaller than this threshold.

At 25 pixels / 6 millimeters and below, the icon stands alone. It preserves brand recognition where the full lockup cannot perform. Always use the supplied master artwork. never redraw or approximate.

Icon Only

Logo Colors

The full-color lockup is the default expression. The Coral icon paired with the Charcoal wordmark on white delivers maximum impact and brand recognition. Use this version whenever contrast and clarity allow.

When the logo sits on photography, dark interfaces, or brand-colored backgrounds, use the reversed versions. White on Coral energizes the mark, white on Charcoal grounds it. Both maintain legibility and presence without altering the form.

For favicons, avatars, app icons, and any context where space is too constrained for the full lockup, the icon-only mark preserves brand recognition. Use the Coral version on light backgrounds and the white version on Coral or dark surfaces.

Logo Monochrome

The monochrome versions remove color to serve single-color applications: stamps, embossing, engraving, low-resolution print, fax, and strict brand-partner lockups. The form and proportions remain identical, only the color is stripped away.

Black on white is the default monochrome expression for light surfaces. White on black is the reversed counterpart for dark backgrounds. Both preserve the logo's structure and legibility without introducing new colors or altering the geometry.

For favicons, app icons, avatars, and any context too constrained for the full lockup, the monochrome icon stands alone. Use black on light backgrounds and white on dark surfaces. Always maintain the supplied proportions, never redraw or approximate.

Logo Rules

Always use the supplied master files. Never redraw, trace, or recreate the logo. The exact geometry, proportions, and color values are engineered, any manual reconstruction introduces error and weakens brand recognition.

Never alter the brand colors, apply gradients, drop shadows, or 3D effects. Do not stretch, compress, rotate, or flip the mark. The Coral icon and Charcoal wordmark pairing is fixed — never swap them, introduce new colors, or change the icon shape.

Never crop the logo, separate the icon from the wordmark, or place it at an angle. Do not use low-opacity or transparent versions. Always maintain sufficient contrast against the background. If the surface compromises legibility, switch to the reversed or monochrome version.

Color System

Primary Colors

Coral Orange #FF6E4C is the primary brand color. It carries the energy of discovery and the warmth of human connection. Use it for primary actions, key highlights, and the icon mark.

Charcoal #1A1A1A grounds the brand in professional authority. It drives typography, dark interfaces, and the wordmark, delivering maximum readability and premium weight without the harshness of pure black.

The tint system extends Coral from full saturation down to near-white, creating depth for hover states, backgrounds, and UI hierarchy. Charcoal scales upward through neutral grays for subtle borders, disabled states, and secondary surfaces. Always pull from this defined scale. never approximate tints manually!

Secondary Colors

#009EF8 is the structural counterweight to Coral. It represents Enterprises, professional authority, and the stability of the Link phase. Use it for secondary actions, enterprise-facing UI, and data visualizations.

#7E54D4 bridges the space where Coral and Deep Blue meet. It serves as a transitional accent for premium highlights and AI-driven features. Use it sparingly it adds depth without competing with the primary hierarchy.

The secondary palette unlocks a signature gradient system blending Coral, Deep Blue, and the accent purple. These gradients add a distinctive brand touch for campaigns, hero sections, and large-format display work. Always use the supplied gradient files. never generate them manually!

Typography

Primary Typeface

The typeface scales across Regular, Medium, Semibold, and Bold. each with matching Italic styles. This range supports everything from body copy to display headlines while maintaining visual cohesion. Use the weights intentionally: Regular for long-form reading, Semibold for UI labels, Bold for headlines and calls to action.

Standard letter spacing is fixed for digital interfaces and body text. For posters, campaigns, and large-format display work, subtle letter spacing adjustments are permitted to amplify presence, but never distort the letterforms or compromise legibility.

Real Usage

Source Sans 3 carries weight and presence at large sizes without feeling heavy. The Bold weight drives campaign headlines and hero statements, while Semibold handles section titles and card headers across the platform.

Medium and Regular weights power the interface, navigation labels, button text, form fields, and long-form reading. The open apertures and generous x-height maintain clarity even at small sizes on mobile screens.

Italic styles add emphasis for secondary information, status labels, and helper text. Whether it's a match score percentage, a mission tag, or a profile completion prompt, the typeface remains legible, professional, and unmistakably FinderrLink.

Photography Style & Patterns

Photography Style

FinderrLink photography captures real human connection in the modern professional world. Every image should feel candid, warm, and authentic. never staged, never sterile. The subjects are engaged in genuine collaboration: a freelancer presenting work, an agency consultant advising a client, a team solving a problem together.

Natural daylight is the default. Soft, warm tones with satisfying contrast create an inviting atmosphere that mirrors the brand's Coral warmth. Avoid harsh flash, cold fluorescents, or artificial studio setups. The environment should feel lived-in, modern offices, co-working spaces, and hybrid workspaces that reflect how people actually work today.

Show diversity in age, background, and role. Focus on the moment of exchange, eye contact, a gesture toward a screen, a handshake that seals a partnership. The goal is to make expertise feel approachable and professional relationships feel human. Never use generic stock poses or faceless corporate imagery.

Patterns

FinderrLink patterns are built around connection, movement, and continuity. They extend the brand's Infinite Path into a flexible visual system that can support layouts without competing with the content.

Use the patterns subtly across backgrounds, cards, social content, presentations, and digital experiences. They should create depth and recognition while keeping the interface clean, professional, and easy to navigate.

Patterns should feel light, fluid, and intentional. Use Coral Orange, Deep Blue, soft neutrals, and Charcoal in controlled proportions. Avoid excessive repetition, heavy decoration, or patterns that reduce readability. The goal is to make every touchpoint feel connected to the FinderrLink ecosystem.

Mockups

UI & Devices Mockups

Mockups show FinderrLink in real hands and real contexts, not floating screens on white backgrounds. A freelancer checks their profile on the commute. A consultant reviews mission matches between meetings. The device and the environment are secondary; the interface is the hero.

Natural, soft lighting with shallow depth of field keeps the focus on the screen. Hands enter the frame naturally, suggesting active use rather than static display. The Bento Grid UI, Coral accents, and clean typography should read clearly at every scale, from phone to tablet.

Always use authentic interface screens, never placeholder content. Show the product as it actually functions: real profile data, real mission cards, real match scores. The mockup should feel like a genuine moment of professional work, not a sterile product shot.

Prints

Print brings the FinderrLink identity into the physical world. Business cards, signage, and large-format campaigns must carry the same precision as the digital product. Premium materials and exact color reproduction ensure the brand feels tangible and credible.

Business cards use the vertical lockup for portability and immediate impact. Large-format outdoor work demands bold messaging and instant readability. Strip away everything non-essential. The billboard is not a brochure; it is a three-second invitation.

Environmental graphics and permanent signage default to the monochrome lockup for sophistication and longevity. Materials should feel as considered as the interface, clean substrates, precise mounting, and finishes that age well. Physical touchpoints must match the premium SaaS experience.

Notepad & Pen

The notebook and pen translate the FinderrLink digital experience into something tangible. Clean white substrates, precise typography, and the Coral elastic band create an object that feels premium without being ornamental.

The Coral accent runs through the page edges and the pen barrel, creating a quiet brand signature that reveals itself in use. The vertical lockup on the spine and the URL on the pen ensure brand presence without dominating the object. Every detail mirrors the interface: minimal, structured, and intentionally human.

Branded merchandise must match the SaaS experience in quality and restraint. No excessive logos, no cheap finishes. The pen writes smoothly. The paper holds ink without bleed. Physical touchpoints are an extension of the platform's promise. professional, direct, and built to last.
